Wellness in the Workplace

Following up on last Fall's book event - The Healthy Workplace Nudge - one of our goals this year is promoting WELLNESS in the workplace; nudging our business partners to make choices that foster well-being.

Good workplace design advances employee wellness which leads to success for businesses and organizations.

Research shows the benefits of social connectivity, movement and change throughout the day and the importance of aligning your workspace with your workstyle. Haworth research investigates links between workspace design and human behavior, health and performance, and the quality of the user experience - emphasizing three main areas: supporting employees, keeping employees engaged & healthy, and enhancing performance & reducing risks.

Spaces

Design a new space from scratch or integrate Cultivate into an existing floorplate to create a work table for the office that fosters community and connectivity. Cultivate provides an informal communal hub, adding social spaces and break areas to the office landscape. Whether sitting or standing height, Cultivate easily supports varying postures and spurs creativity.

Cultivate™

With a residential look that warms up the work environment, Haworth's Cultivate table line addresses the practical needs of a communal table for the office in a simple yet highly-customizable design.

an interesting distinction...
Effective is doing the right thing,
Efficient is doing it correctly.
