The Importance of LIGHT

When designing an office layout, picking furniture and deciding on open or closed floor plans may take the bulk of your attention. However, less tangible elements, specifically lighting, are just as important to consider.

A bright, illuminated office not only makes it easier for employees to see, but it also improves productivity and health and wellness. For this reason, planning your lighting scheme should go hand in hand with designing your office layout and selecting quality furniture.

Collaborate without Bounds with Bluescape

Bluescape is a Secure Collaborative Workspace

Operated on cloud-based software, Bluescape can be accessed on multiple devices, including large-scale, high-definition, multi-touch screens: iPads, laptops and mobile devices.

Bluescape's secure virtual workspaces unify your content and conversations in a shared, persistent space that can be accessed from any device or location. Dispersed teams can now work better together - and stay on the same page - no matter where they do their work.

Want to see Bluescape in action? We would love to arrange a visit to DBI's showroom for a demonstration.
