For Some, Working from Home is Now their New Normal

For some, working from home is not as awesome as it sounds. In the office, your coworkers are often distracting and pose a challenge to getting heads-down, focus work done, but often when working from home, you are your own worst enemy. After all, at your home office, no one's watching.

Here are 4 easy tips for working from home successfully.

1. Structure your day - create a routine
2. Create a DEDICATED work space
3. Plan out what you'll be working on ahead of time
4. Communicate your work expectations with others

What Do Customers Want? A Personalized Experience.

Providing immersive and meaningful personal experiences is how leading businesses are connecting with their customers. As demand for customized experiences grow, DBI utilizes technology to help create that curated experience.

DBI uses the leading CRM tool to determine a company's office supply usage in real time and allows us to build a client's customized program to streamline their procurement process. Technology allows us to offer our customers on-demand, comprehensive product solutions. That means that, when clients login to order on-line, the paper they use will be listed first, the pen they've chosen is "front and center" - no frustrating searching for the items they need.

Businesses Giving Back: Corporate Social Responsibility (CSR)

CSR is now considered a standard business practice and a practical way to give back to society. When businesses are conscious of their social and environmental impact on the world, they can benefit their communities by giving back and helping to find solutions to everyday issues. According to bizfluen.com, there are four types of CSR: Environmental Sustainability Initiatives, Direct Philanthropic Giving, Ethical Business Practices and Economic Responsibility. Considering low unemployment and the importance of employee retention, here are some statistics to think about - according to brodoto.com, 83% of employees would be more loyal to a company that helps them contribute to social and environmental issues and 88% say their job is more fulfilling when they are provided opportunities to make a positive impact on social and environmental issues.
